About Dr. Paul Chabot

Dr. Paul Chabot worked for both President Clinton and President Bush in The White House. He has a doctorate degree in executive leadership; served in the U.S. Congress, U.S. State Department, U.S. Department of Justice, Pentagon and California Governor's Office as an appointed Commissioner. He's a Naval Intelligence Officer who served in Iraq with Special Forces, and protected his community as a decorated police officer.

In college he was named Student Leader of the Year and Greek Man of the Year. He was President and Founder of his fraternity and later inducted into Order of Omega and the Free Masons. Paul was a Resident Assistant, University Ambassador and IFC Officer.

Paul is a leader when it comes to the topic of "leadership." He has won numerous awards for his education work and has helped students achieve their full potential for years.

Each of Paul's programs is a successful blend of real world experience and motivation that will inspire your student leaders to make a difference in the world we share.
